The Maryland Coalition of Interior Designers (MDCID) reaches out to the local community, other design professionals, and the public to encourage awareness about the profession and the capabilities of qualified interior designers with an effort to promote understanding about the profession, to increase collaboration with other design professionals, and to better protect the health, safety, and welfare of the public in the built environment. We are a coalition that represents interior designers in the state of Maryland.

This event functions as our premiere fundraising event and enables MDCID to carry out several parts of our mission throughout the coming year. Each donation contributes to our success and the success of those that we represent. In addition, this event draws a large variety of attendees who all share an interest in Baltimore design including but not limited to a wide range of professionals from local businesses, art, design, real estate, and other industries.
